

Welcome

seven twelve is an experienced freelance PR consultancy, helping brands, businesses and people to communicate more effectively.

In a busy, 'always-on' world, being seen and heard is not easy. Finding new, useful, informative and entertaining ways to engage is critical in building market share.

Owner Sarah Chapman has a background heading up teams at PR and marketing agencies in Sheffield and Manchester, delivering effective, award-winning campaigns for brands in manufacturing, property, healthcare and professional services, to name but a few.

In challenging economic times, working with a highly experienced freelance PR consultant makes a lot of sense. Rather than committing to costly agency fees, or employing someone, a freelance arrangement can help you to afford the dedicated skills and expertise of someone with great experience who will be involved as and when you need them.

Social or traditional media, community or industry group, whatever the environment, we will work with you to build creative, intelligent campaigns that build better relationships with customers, achieve a stronger share of voice and add significant value to your marketing spend.
